

Get what you need to get back to business

In order to get back to work, businesses need to adapt to new ways of doing business. This means making sure you have all the necessary tools to keep employees and customers safe. No matter what kind of business it is, changes will need to be made, and these checklists are here to help.

Plants & factories

Plants and factories face their own unique challenge by having many people working in close proximity to each other. It's important to create a safe environment while staying focused on the health of employees. This checklist will help you make sure that you have the proper work conditions.

- › Disposable or promotional face masks
- › Freestanding or permanently installed distancing barriers
- › Hands-free sanitiser stations
- › Hard hats
- › Imprinted floor decals, mats and signs
- › Lunch coolers for workers
- › Magnets imprinted with safety reminders
- › Multi-purpose tools
- › Non-contact digital thermometers
- › Pedestal or A-frame signage with reminders
- › Personal stickers for hard hats
- › Protective eye gear
- › Reflective safety vests
- › Retractable badge holders
- › Safety earplugs
- › Sanitiser wipes to clean machines after use
- › Single-use, disposable forehead strip thermometers
- › Uniforms
- › Vinyl banners with safety tips
- › Wall calendars
- › Work gloves

Prepare to safely bring back employees

As companies start to reopen, it's important to make sure your business is prepared. It is recommended that people continue to follow the following practices to ensure a safe and smooth transition:

- › Social distancing (specifically, staying 1.5 meters away from others when you must go into a shared space)
- › Frequently washing hands or use alcohol-based (at least 70% alcohol) hand sanitiser when soap and water are not available
- › Wearing cloth face coverings
- › Avoiding touching eyes, nose, and mouth
- › Staying home when sick
- › Cleaning and disinfecting frequently touched objects and surfaces

We have a variety of products that will help you follow these guidelines, and they can even be branded to your business to encourage camaraderie amongst employees and your surrounding community.